

Veterans With a Permanent and Total Disability by Town

By: Jessica Schaeffer-Helmecki, Associate Legislative Attorney November 16, 2023 | 2023-R-0287

Issue

How many veterans in each town have a permanent and total (P&T) disability status, as determined by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (U.S. DVA)?

(For the number of veterans in each town with a disability rating of 100%, which includes both those rated P&T and whose disabilities are not deemed permanent, see OLR Report 2023-R-0199.)

Veterans With a P&T Disability Status

The U.S. DVA assigns disability ratings, expressed as a percentage, based on the severity of an individual's serviceconnected condition or conditions. Broadly, the rating represents how much one's overall health and ability to function is decreased and is used to determine the amount of certain federal compensation (and some state benefits, like property tax exemptions) to which an individual is entitled. The maximum rating is 100%, or a total disability.

Total disability ratings may be temporary or permanent. Although someone with a temporary rating (e.g., after surgery or while immobilized in a cast) may still qualify for benefits, his or her condition may improve and, after an evaluation, rating may be reduced. A permanent rating means the U.S. DVA has determined the impairment is reasonably certain to continue D'Ambrose, Director throughout his or her life (e.g., for the loss of both hands) (see, e.g., 38 C.F.R. § 4.15). Generally, those with permanent ratings do not need to undergo periodic re-examinations. Federal law provides certain additional education assistance, health care, and death benefits to those with a P&T disability status. The U.S. DVA's Annual Benefits Report (2022), provides additional information on federal benefits provided to veterans, broken down by state.

According to information the U.S. DVA provided, as of October 2023, 1,209 veterans in Connecticut had a P&T disability. Table 1 shows the number by town and as a percentage of the town's estimated population.
