Municipal Impact: None

Explanation

The bill increases the penalty to owners of roaming dogs from an infraction to a fine up to $350 for a first violation, a fine up to $500 for a second violation, and a class C misdemeanor for subsequent violations. This results in a potential cost to the Judicial Department for probation and a potential revenue gain to the General Fund from fines.¹ On average, the marginal cost for supervision in the community is less than $600² each year for adults.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to inflation and the actual violations.

¹ In FY 24, 1,256 charges were recorded and $50,332 in associated revenue collected under CGS § 22-364(a).

² Probation marginal cost is based on services provided by private providers and only includes costs that increase with each additional participant. This does not include a cost for additional supervision by a probation officer unless a new offense is anticipated to result in enough additional offenders to require additional probation officers.

OLR Bill AnalysisSB 1446AN ACT CONCERNING ROAMING DOGS.SUMMARY

This bill increases the penalty for dog owners or keepers who allow their dogs to roam at large on another's land or on a public highway when not under their control.

Under current law, this is an infraction. The bill instead makes it punishable by a fine of up to $350 for a first violation, a fine of up to $500 for a second violation, and a class C misdemeanor for a subsequent violation, which is punishable by a fine of up to $500, up to three months in prison, or both.

By law, the unauthorized presence of a dog on another's land or a public highway when not under its owner's or keeper's control is prima facie evidence of a violation.

The bill also makes technical changes.
