OFA Fiscal Note

State Impact: None

Municipal Impact: None

Explanation

The bill, which requires the Department of Emergency Services and Public Protection to study and report the feasibility of instituting a blood tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) level and psilocybin level at which point a driver is per se driving while intoxicated, is not anticipated to result in a fiscal impact because the department has the expertise to assess the feasibility of instituting such standards.
