The bill repeals several crimes related to large capacity magazines and makes other conforming changes, resulting in a potential savings to the Department of Correction and the Judicial Department for incarceration or probation and a potential revenue loss to the General Fund from fines. On average, the marginal cost to the state for incarcerating an offender for the year is $3,300<sup>1</sup> while the average marginal cost for supervision in the community is less than $600<sup>2</sup> each year for adults and $450 each year for juveniles.

<sup>1</sup> Inmate marginal cost is based on increased consumables (e.g., food, clothing, water, sewage, living supplies, etc.) This does not include a change in staffing costs or utility expenses because these would only be realized if a unit or facility closed.

<sup>2</sup> Probation marginal cost is based on services provided by private providers and only includes costs that increase with each additional participant.
