be an increase in sales tax revenue from those sales. Any increase will depend upon the demand for such products and not a shift in sales from other similar products.

Consumer Protection Enforcement Account Revenue Impact

Section 3 and 4 create a commercial extractor and out-of-state edible license for an annual fee of $375 resulting in a potential revenue gain to the consumer protection enforcement account to the extent applications and renewals are received for these licenses.

Section 10 reduces the fee for a moderate-THC hemp certificate from $2,000 to $800¹ resulting in a potential revenue loss to the consumer protection enforcement account dependent on the number of application and renewal requests.

Section 10 also requires moderate-THC hemp product vendors to pay a fee of $500 if they intend to sell infused beverages to consumers resulting in a potential revenue gain to the consumer protection enforcement account to the extent these fees are assessed.

Section 11 requires moderate-THC hemp product vendors to assess a fee of one dollar for every infused beverage container sold resulting in a potential revenue gain to the consumer protection enforcement account dependent on the number of containers sold.
