Explanation

The amendment strikes the underlying bill and results in the following impact.

The amendment allows certain municipalities to form regional police forces, resulting in a potential cost to certain municipalities and the Department of Emergency Services and Public Protection (DESPP) beginning in FY 26.

¹The fringe benefit costs for most state employees are budgeted centrally in accounts administered by the Comptroller. The estimated active employee fringe benefit cost associated with most personnel changes is 40.71% of payroll in FY 26.

The amendment may result in a cost to municipalities with a population of 50,000 or less beginning in FY 26 that choose to form a regional police authority, to the extent that resources are used to establish the authority and apply to DESPP.²

If DESPP receives enough applications to form regional police forces, they may need to hire one Associate Accountant and one State Police Lieutenant to review and make recommendations on such applications. This results in a potential cost of $240,000 in FY 26 and FY 27 to DESPP and $110,364 to the State Comptroller - Fringe Benefits.³

The amendment also makes clarifying changes which are not anticipated to result in a fiscal impact.

The preceding Fiscal Impact statement is prepared for the benefit of the members of the General Assembly, solely for the purposes of information, summarization and explanation and does not represent the intent of the General Assembly or either chamber thereof for any purpose. In general, fiscal impacts are based upon a variety of informational sources, including the analyst's professional knowledge. Whenever applicable, agency data is consulted as part of the analysis, however final products do not necessarily reflect an assessment from any specific department.

² According to the Department of Public Health, in 2023 there were 150 municipalities with a population of 50,000 or less.

³ The estimated salary of these positions is $90,000 and 150,000 with fringe benefits expenses of $36,639 and $73,725, respectively.
