NATURE AND SOURCES OF OPPOSITION:

Connecticut Legal Services, Raphael Podolsky, Attorney and Policy Advocate submitted testimony in opposition to the bill. He states that the bill is unnecessary as participants are routinely told their rights. He believes that the inclusion of the requirement that the announcement includes "the scope of such commission's lawful authority" will become a trap, as the scope of the commissions power is broad and diverse and will vary based on the facts of the case. He states that by attempting to articulate the scope of power briefly, it could generate issues and could become excuses for appeals.

These individuals submitted joint testimony in opposition to the bill. They state that fair rent commissions already provide notices to parties of their rights and the procedures of the commission. They do not think there is a need to mandate additional notices:
