CRTD Market Research/Intercept study FY 19-20

Intercept studies of visitors to a set of CRTD's key attractions and events will be run as part of a study which was developed for the Connecticut Office of Tourism. It is the only research of real tourists during their actual visits (i.e. not members of a panel statistically weighted to represent them) and includes all tourists whether local resident or from out-of-State (i.e. not limited to those who traveled a minimum distance, used an electronic device or visited a certain website). This will provide statistics about visitor profiles, origin, primary motive, supporting itinerary during their visit (e.g. other attractions, dining, shopping, lodging, transportation) and more importantly, spending distribution during their visits and thus, economic impact measures of CRTD and participating attractions and events themselves. This year's research is also looking at COVID-19 and its effects on tourism and consumer's behavior in relation to the Pandemic and recovery.

A significant benefit of the study is that in addition to CRTD receiving an overall report, each individual participating attraction or event can receive a summary of their own intercepts, each with benchmark comparisons to CRTD's overall results and those Statewide.

Additional Cooperative Marketing with the COT

CRTD Participating in Reopen Connecticut Tourism TV Campaign Opportunity in Partnership with the COT and other Districts

To complement this Summer's, Reopen Connecticut Tourism marketing campaign, COT has invited CRTD to collaborate along with the other Regional Tourism Districts to fund an in-state broadcast TV media buy. Built around a unifying campaign theme "So Good to See You, Connecticut," these TV spots will invite our target audiences to view Connecticut through fresh eyes and experience the rich array of things to see and do across our diverse regions.

THE INVESTMENT

$25,000 from each of three Connecticut Regional Tourism Districts and the Connecticut Office of Tourism (total $100,000)

THE RETURN

New TV Spots. As part of this campaign, we will capitalize on the efficiencies of shooting and editing as part of one initiative to deliver:

Tourism Marketing Plan 2021

Central Region Marketing Organization (Central RMO)

Background

In 2016 when Connecticut's three Regional Tourism Districts lost State funding, the Middlesex Chamber responded to their members who needed to fill the local void with regional tourism marketing efforts. The Middlesex Chamber Tourism Committee was formed with very active volunteers, many of whom were Board members from the Central Regional Tourism District (CRTD). This robust committee kept regional tourism marketing "alive" under their leadership, and with limited resources created and implemented successful campaigns, promotions and synergies with its diverse tourism-related entities across Middlesex County.

Situation

At the close of the 2020 legislative session, the Regional Tourism Districts have been funded with the CRTD slated to receive $400K. It is important that this investment be wisely spent with fiscal responsibility on tourism marketing for the region with measurable results.

Opportunity

The Chamber and Tourism District have an opportunity to maintain what is the "State model" for optimizing investment in regional tourism marketing. In particular, how to leverage investments so that the majority is deployed with "real and meaningful" results for the region.

A New Way of Doing Business

With only $400K, the Regional Marketing Organization (RMO) will not be able to support the staff, office space, equipment purchases/leases, phone systems, internet services, etc. it once did in years past. There simply wouldn't be enough money left for efficient or effective marketing, and Legislators wouldn't see meaningful results from their investment. The ongoing Partnership with the Middlesex Chamber creates a new way of doing business, and a proven model on how to successfully develop and maintain regional tourism marketing in Connecticut.

A Public-Private Model

The State's public $400K investment will be supplemented with private funds from tourism entities, attractions, events and business leaders committed to the success of regional tourism marketing. The RMO has a private sector development committee and to help raise additional funds through "pay to play" initiatives and sponsorships. In addition to advertising and promotion, these organizations can participate in campaigns, trade shows and sales efforts under the RMO umbrella.

How Will this Work?

The RMO continues to replace the Chamber's Tourism Committee. All of those members can and will be active participants on the RMO board and committees. With limited resources, marketing efforts will be focused on digital marketing initiatives, social media campaigns, cooperative projects/opportunities and regionally focused niche campaigns that highlight the uniqueness of our tourism products. There will be no website expense as the district will promote and participate in the State's website that already has an established internet presence and the highest traffic of any tourism site in the state. A higher emphasis will be placed on no-cost public relations campaigns and strategies. There will also be a dedicated and active marketing committee made up of the intellectual capital of tourism leaders that will drive and develop the strategic marketing planning and implementation.

The Benefits

The RMO will have instant credibility being associated with the stellar reputations of its primary partners, the Middlesex County Chamber of Commerce and the State Office of Tourism. This Partnership will ensure that the majority of the State's investment will actually be spent on regional tourism marketing with measurable results!

Why Digital Marketing is so important

A decade ago, digital advertising was nothing more than a banner ad placed on a website. Today, the internet is accessible everywhere, via mobile phones and tablets. This has spurred a tremendous growth in digital advertising. For the first time ever, digital ad spend was higher than TV this year.

Based upon a limited budget for the RMO, a digital marketing campaign is recommended. The main advantage of digital marketing is that the target audience can be reached in a cost-effective and measurable way. Digital advertising can be geo-targeted to the zip code level which eliminates waste. You can target people according to their demographics, behaviors, lifestyles, interests, and connections.

Utilizing digital tactics provides not only the most in-depth targeting options but allows for the analysis of results in real time for a stronger, more impactful campaign. Additionally, budgets are fluid and can be shifted instantaneously to the best performing tactics based on the campaign's Key Performance Indicator (KPI).

Tactics for this tourism campaign will be determined based on the final goals/objectives, target audience and marketing areas of the campaign. These tactics will include digital display, digital video, digital audio and paid social media.

What is the issue we are trying to solve?

The organization's fundamental goal is to increase visitation to the region's offerings resulting in increased revenue to the region and thus the State. To that end, investment will focus on enhancing the State's efforts by emphasizing the region's unique offerings and experiences. In particular, the strategy will provide data to and reinforce CTvisit.com, and increase traffic to it. Ultimately, the investment will supplement the State's campaign to attract in-state and out-of-state leisure travelers by building awareness about the particular diverse and unique offerings and experiences of the 65 towns and cities that make up the RMO (regional marketing organization) of Greater New Haven and River Valley/Greater Hartford.

What do we want to accomplish?

- Increase traffic to CTVisit.com
- Work in concert and provide regional support to the State Office of Tourism (COT)

- Build awareness of the 65 town/city region as a destination
- Increase visitation to region's "tourism assets" (attractions, events, experiences)
- Facilitate development of new and/or expansion of tourism assets
- Improve the visitor experience
- Coordinate and build synergies with other tourism marketing organizations in the region
- Monitor and track campaigns allowing for "pivot points" to keep activities on track
- Measure and benchmark the marketing, PR and communications activities
- Raise private-sector dollars to compound the marketing spend
- Optimize ROI

What's Your Brew IQ?

The Oldest Brewery in the state of Connecticut is the Willimantic Brewing Company. It was established in 1993 in Willimantic, CT. This Connecticut brewpub is a historic USPS building that was abandoned by the Feds in 1967.

Did you know, a Brewery is also called a Beerhouse?

Cenosilicaphobia is the fear of an empty glass. You can make sure your glass is always full at any of our finest breweries in Connecticut.

A unique waterfront space with a brew house just steps from the Branford River is the Stony Creek Brewery. Sit right next to the river while sipping on a cold fresh brew.

Are you an animal lover and love beer? You can find beer and get to hang with some furry pals at The Brewery at Maple View Farm. You can even go horseback riding!
