Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute revised its Sexual Misconduct Policy and the Human Resources Policies for Sex/Gender Discrimination and Sexual Harassment on August 14, 2020 to reflect changes to Title IX regulations, State laws, best practices and community feedback. These policies detail the procedures that students, faculty and staff of the Institute can use to report incidents of sexual misconduct (i.e., sexual assault, stalking, or intimate partner violence) or sexual harassment. These policies also provide University members with information about care and support services. In addition, these Policies delineate the options a reporting party, or an individual who alleges to be a victim of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment, may take with regard to filing a criminal complaint, an institutional complaint, or a confidential report. Furthermore, the Policies provide information regarding informal resolutions and interim measures and accommodations that are available to members of the Rensselaer community.
