

I vote no to the improper direction this state seeks to take over law and order. The current governor and the political luggage imposed upon the legal citizens of CT are determined to recreate the lawlessness of the west coast states. CT general statutes enumerate more than sufficient laws and guidelines to provide for a safe environment for all. The problem rests with the political few paid by the wealthy elite to neutralize and render moot any and all effectiveness of our law enforcement. Law enforcement requires discipline and structure. Discipline and structure mandate public support without which chaos prevails.
