

To whom it may concern,

Please rethink this bill. It would not do anything to make things better. It will just show people it's ok to disrespect and obnoxious with the police. Police put there life on the line everyday they go to work. Not all police are good, those should be handled on an individual bases. The only thing that will change things is people have to stop hating and start respecting each other. Why isn't there protest when an officer is killed just doing his job. Especially when they are just sitting in there police car. It's a double edged sword changes have to be made on both sides. Please do not pass this bill.
