

To who it may concern:

I am writing support of the police accountability bill (LCO #3471) being sponsored by Senator Gary Winfield. I am a believer in law and order and the rule of law, but the rules and laws must apply to everybody, and most especially to those tasked with upholding the law. A system in which officers who violate the law are shielded from the consequences of their actions does not serve the public interest and must be changed. I applaud Senator Winfield for his efforts to bring justice to victims of police brutality and to hold police and other officials accountable for their actions whatever office they hold.
