

To whom ever may Concern.

First of all I wanna thank you for allowing me an inmate to give my input, opinion and my two cents in this discussion.

I truly believe that if the Department of Correction Staff had more oversight as far as accountability w/c C.T. DOC would be alot safer and actual corrections of behaviors would occur.

Correction Officers get paid alot of money to do nothing but sit around 8-16 hour a day a significant amount of them dont follow the rules that they are supposed to follow and the higher ups that are supposed to enforce them dont do so. I believe that one cant enforce the rules if he doesnt follow them.

This culture of we can do as we please that they've adopted goes against what the D.O.C. is in place. Some rules need to be in place and some actual people meaning Correctional Staff need to start getting dealt with and held accountable
