Housing Developments: Recent Legislation on Building, Renting, and Buying in Connecticut

2024 ISSUES CONFERENCE

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH

Many factors impact housing affordability and availability

Housing Supply Factors

- Restrictive zoning regulations
- Local permitting processes
- Post-Great Recession construction dip
- Financing challenges for developers
- Land and construction costs
- Shifting demographics (e.g., increase in single-person households)

Effects of Limited Supply

- Tight rental market (increasing rents)
- Competitive homebuying market (increasing purchasing costs)
- Stress on household budgets
- Increasing housing instability (e.g., eviction proceedings and homelessness)
- Difficulty housing workforce
- Limited housing options and residential mobility

Zoning 101

- Who has authority over zoning?
- What is zoning?
- How has it shaped Connecticut?
- The debate

Municipalities have zoning authority (usually)

- General principle: towns, as creations of the state, have only the powers that the state grants them (e.g., Simons v. Canty, 195 Conn. 524 (1985))
- State generally gives zoning authority to towns, with parameters (CGS § 8-2, special acts)
 - Except, for example:
 - State building code
 - State fire safety code and state fire prevention code
 - Affordable Housing Land Use Appeals Procedure (or “8-30g”)

An isometric illustration of a city grid. The top-left quadrant is dominated by tall, blue and grey skyscrapers. The bottom-left quadrant features green spaces with trees, small blue ponds, and low-rise white buildings. The right half of the image shows a mix of building heights and styles, including some with red roofs, interspersed with green spaces and trees. Roads with dashed white lines and small cars are visible throughout the city.

What is zoning?

- Municipal regulations that dictate what can go where, how it should look, and how it can be used
- Impacts amount of housing that is built and where it is built
- Minimum parking, minimum lot size, maximum building height

How do towns zone?

- Elected zoning commission
- Set of rules and maps
- As-of-right developments vs. case-by-case

Zoning concepts

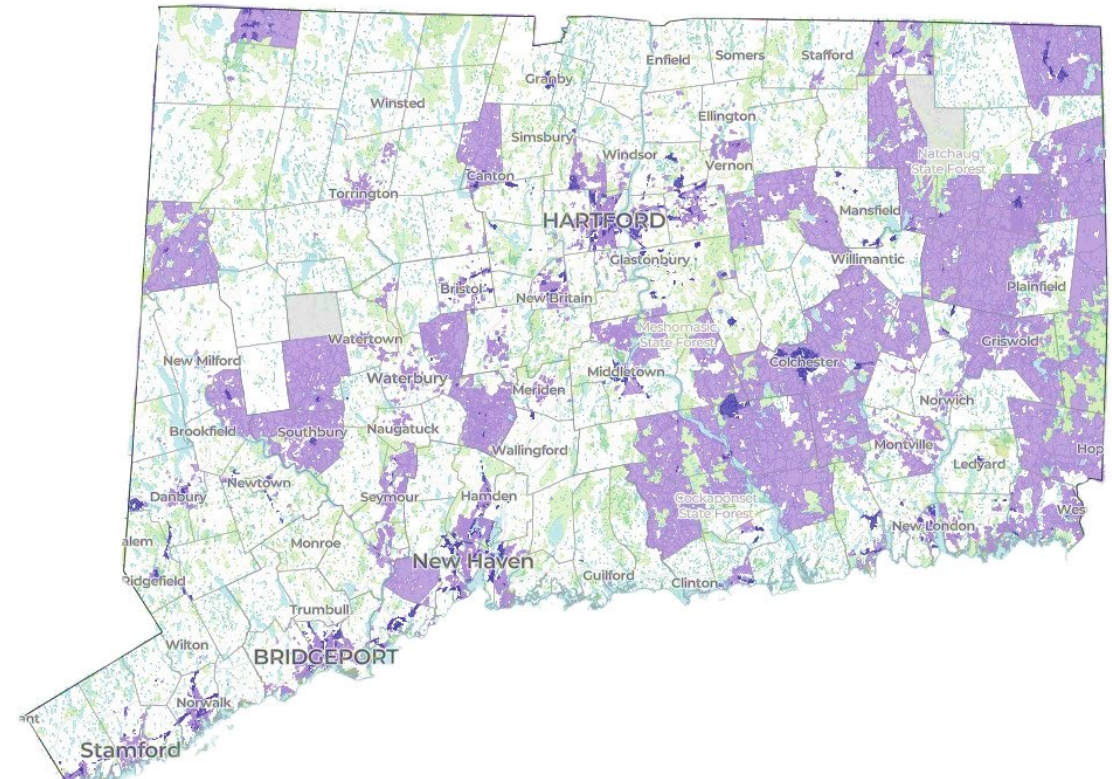

- Mixed-use developments
- Middle housing
- Transit-oriented development (TOD)

Much of Connecticut is not zoned for multi-family housing

Single Family Housing Allowed
(as-of-right)

Two-Family Housing Allowed
(as-of-right)

The debate

Most people agree we need more housing ...

Fewer local zoning restrictions = more housing = more affordable housing

Towns know what they need and should retain local control over zoning

Encourage a variety of housing types (middle housing, low- and moderate-income housing)

Preserve local character

We should have walkable, mixed-use development near public transit stations

Our infrastructure can't handle denser development

but stakeholders often have different priorities

Recent Changes to Zoning Laws

- Overarching Zoning Authority
- Development Assistance for Municipalities
- As-of-Right Developments

Recent Change: Overarching Authority

- Changes to the Zoning Enabling Act

- Statutes that govern most towns' zoning authority
- In 2021, reorganized to clarify what zoning regulations must, can, or cannot require
- Many changes focused on clarifying local responsibility for providing housing opportunities (PA 21-29, §§ 3-5)

Recent Changes: Development Assistance

- Municipal Redevelopment Authority (MRDA)

- In 2023, began funding quasi-public agency to stimulate economic and transit-oriented development
- Provide financial support and technical assistance
- To participate, municipality must designate a “housing growth zone” (e.g., PA 23-204, §§ 1, 31 & 194-198 and PA 24-81, §§ 82-85 & 243)

Recent Changes: As-of-Right Developments

- Conversions of vacant nursing homes to multifamily housing

Municipality must allow if the nursing home is a freestanding building that has been vacant for at least 90 days and is not a nonconforming use (PA 24-143, § 3)

- “Middle housing” developments

If town allows middle housing developments as of right and units are built, it receives credit toward an 8-30g moratorium (PA 24-143, §§ 10-12)

- Accessory dwelling units (or “ADUs” or “accessory apartments”)

Requires most municipalities to allow ADUs as of right on the same lot as single-family homes, unless the municipality opted out before 2023 (PA 21-29)

Potential Legislation on Zoning

Transit-Oriented Development

- Work, Live, Ride

As-of-Right Development

- Commercial to residential
- Temporary shelters on religious organizations' property

Limiting Individuals' Interventions in Land Use Proceedings

- Protest petitions
- Standing to challenge residential building permits
- Land use decision appeals

Part II: Renter Protections

Shaun McGann

Associate Legislative Analyst

Renters typically spend more of their income on housing than homeowners

HUD considers households spending 30% or more of their income on housing costs as “cost burdened.”

Those spending 50% or more are considered “severely cost burdened.”

In Connecticut, nearly half of renter households are cost burdened.

The Debate:

Renter Protections vs Landlord Business Environment

While renters and landlords may agree more housing is needed, they sometimes voice different concerns.

Tenants & Advocates	Landlords & Property Managers
Excessive rent increases	Costs of regulation being passed on to renters
No-fault or retaliatory evictions	Problematic tenants; eviction process cost/timeframe; and property rights
Rental unit safety conditions	Programmatic delays (e.g., inefficient inspection processes for rental assistance programs)
Housing access and discrimination	Safety and quality of life for current tenants
Enforcement of existing landlord-tenant laws and local housing codes	Excessive regulation resulting in reduced housing supply and increased rents

Current Protections Against Rent Increases

Fair Rent Commissions

- Towns are authorized to establish fair rent commissions to “control and eliminate” excessive rental charges
- Towns with a population of at least 25,000 must have a commission
- Among other things, commissions can receive rent complaints and issue rent reduction orders based on specified considerations (e.g., rents for comparable units and necessary repairs)

Protected Tenants

- State law allows certain “protected tenants” living in a town with no fair rent commission to bring action in court to contest an excessive rent increase
- “Protected tenants” are generally those who (1) live in a building with at least five separate units and (2) are age 62 or older or have a disability
- These tenants also cannot be evicted solely because their lease has expired

State law does not allow towns to adopt rent control ordinances

Recent Renter Protection Laws

- Rental Affordability
- Housing Quality & Code Enforcement
- Landlord-Tenant (e.g., leases and eviction process)

Recent Laws: Rental Affordability

Topic	Summary
Fair Rent Commissions (PA 22-30)	Required municipalities with populations of at least 25,000 to have a fair rent commission (by July 1, 2023)
Rent Increase Notice (PA 24-143, §§ 16 & 17)	Required landlords to give residential tenants at least 45 days' written notice of proposed rent increases, or an amount of notice that equals the full length of the lease for tenants with lease terms of one month or less

Recent Laws: Rental Affordability

Topic	Summary
Tenant Fees & Charges (PA 23-207, §§ 5-8)	Set limits on the (1) rental application-related fees and payments that landlords may require from prospective tenants and (2) late fees that landlords may impose for overdue rent
Security Deposits (PA 23-207, §§ 38 & 39)	Generally shortened the timeframe for landlords to return a tenant's security deposit and interest on deposits

Other Recent Renter Protection Laws

Pre-Occupancy Inspections

Standardized Leases

Housing Code Violations

Eviction Record Removal

Renter Protections: Potential Legislation

- Rental Affordability
- Housing Access (tenant screening)
- Eviction Protections
- Housing Code Enforcement
- Streamlining Assistance Programs for Lower-Income Renters

Potential Legislation: Rental Affordability

Topic	Summary
Fair Rent Commissions (e.g., SB 907(2023))	Reduce the population threshold (currently 25,000) that requires towns to have a fair rent commission
Rent Control (e.g., HB 6588 (2023))	Establish statewide rent control by limiting allowable rent increases for occupied units (e.g., Oregon) or authorize towns to adopt rent control ordinances within certain parameters (e.g., New Jersey)

Potential Legislation: Rental Affordability

Topic	Summary
Rental Savings Accounts (e.g., SB 147 (2024))	Establish tax-advantaged rental savings accounts that tenants may use for rental expenses
Rental Assistance	Expand or provide additional funding for existing state programs providing assistance to lower-income renters (e.g., DOH's Rental Assistance Program (RAP))

Streamlining Rental Assistance

No-Fault Evictions

Housing Code Enforcement
