

People in nursing homes need to have some social contact with people they know and love. Without this contact, it is as if they are in jail. Many of the people going to visit people are family members. These family members also need the social contact with family members.

I can only imagine that it is extremely depressing to be told that you can not visit your family member in the short time that they have left on earth.

Humans are social beings and require contact with people they know and love.

Please do all that you can to make the people in the nursing homes enjoy what time they have left.

Mark A. Maugle
MarkMaugle@Mac.Com